

Lerato Rampai

FrontEnd Developer

Hi, I am a product designer, UI and a front-end developer. Ambitious, love acquiring new skills and finding new ways to enhance the skills I already have by challenging myself. I love designing websites that are as simple as possible. My goal is to focus on minimalism and conveying the message that you want to send. I know how to develop websites that run on multiple devices using the latest technologies available. I can build beautiful websites for both business and personal use.
